Barnard College

PUBLISHED BY THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNAE
NEW YORK CITY

FELLOW ALUMNAE:

Greeting! ♣ The Publicity Committee places before you this little pamphlet. It has several new features: pictures, advertisements, letters on policy, etc. Show your interest by writing the Executive Secretary whether you like it or not. ♣ ♣ Please criticise, please suggest. Above all, please express your opinion on the advisability of a more frequent publication. Reports of 1919-1920, read at the October meeting are rather stale by April 1921. As a medium for exchange of views, for the up-building of policy, a publication appearing once a year cannot serve the ever-increasing interests of the Associate Alumnae. ♣ ♣ If you want to see the BARNARD ALUMNAE QUARTERLY on your library table wake up and say so, send in ideas and personals for publication and get those friends of yours to pay their dues so your contributions may appear!

WHAT IS YOUR OPINION?

As president of the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College I wish to call the attention of the alumnae to the following letters on a vital question, one that the association must soon decide and which is now under consideration by the Alumnae Council. There is no question that whatever concerns the welfare of the undergraduate and the college, as well as the general field of higher education, is admittedly within the scope of the activities of the association. The question is whether the association shall concern itself with outside activities in other fields, such as welfare work and social service. Expressions of opinion from those interested will be heartily welcomed, and may be sent to the editor of the Alumnae Bulletin for publication or to the chairman of the Alumnae Council.

RUTH E. GUERNSEY.

March, 1921.

To the Editor of the Bulletin:

Dear Madame:—In these times when Reconstruction is the watchword and everyone is on the alert for constructive changes, the question as to the function of the alumnae body of the college is very much in the foreground.

I think before one can discuss this question, one must realize thoroughly that a successful college to-day cannot abstract itself from its surroundings—set itself apart, so to speak, as a definite unrelated concrete fact. We must admit its relation to the living organism of which it is an integral part. It throws out its tentacles into the community which in turn leaves its stamp on the student body and on the teaching staff.

Shall the alumnae then, the mature and finished product of the college, take no part in this constant ebb and flow? Shall it limit its usefulness to the narrow field of college activities. Ought we not as a body, take a greater share in community life? I should like to state, right here, that the passive attitude of the alumnae was one of the reasons that our endowment drive last year did not meet with more spontaneous support. I do not mean passive attitude on the part of the alumnae toward the college, alone, but even more the passive attitude of the alumnae to the community interests.

We must of course limit our activities, but we can take part in the vital movements, and I feel that Barnard College, because of its strategical position in the heart of a big city, has a problem and an opportunity peculiar to itself. We cannot help being influenced by external events—we ought not neglect our chance to influence our environment.

HILDA N. STRAUSS.

"THERE IS A COLLEGE ON BROADWAY"
BARNARD FROM STUDENTS HALL

March 12, 1921.

To the Editor of the Bulletin:

The question is often asked "What activities should the alumnæ association undertake?" Should we devote our efforts to the interests of Barnard or should we go outside to other fields, too? There is a difference of opinion in the answers. I wish to state a few reasons why I believe it is best for the Associate Alumnæ of Barnard College to devote its energy to the interests of Barnard College activities in particular, and to college activities in general.

The bond which binds Barnard women together is Barnard. I doubt if any other bond could be found which is common to us all and not enjoyed by any other group. The basis of our organization is that we were graduated from Barnard College. Suppose we were to undertake some non-Barnard work, would we be able to keep the interest of all the Barnard women? Would we be serving Barnard's best interests if we entered into some non-Barnard field which offended other Barnard alumnæ and kept them from returning to college or participating in our association? I believe that we should not be serving Barnard in the best way possible if we decreased the support of any of its alumnæ. It is sometimes said that Barnard is different—it is situated in a city. The college is in New York City, but the members of the Associate Alumnæ are living in China, India, France, England, Japan, California, Texas, etc. Their dues support our association. Why should we spend them on anything but Barnard business? It is true that our association is often asked to join with other clubs in New York City in raising funds for X Y Z or endorsing Law M or N, putting ourselves on record as opposed to Law P or Q. The other groups of college alumnæ in the city which are often called upon are the Vassar Club of New York, the New York Bryn Mawr Club, the Smith College Club of New York,—these local clubs are not to be confused with the alumnæ associations of Vassar, Bryn Mawr and Smith. We have no New York City Barnard Club and so the appeals to Barnard women are made through our alumnæ association. The members of the Vassar Club of New York have two bonds in common—the members are alumnæ of Vassar and they live in New York. The Associate Alumnæ of Barnard College has this bond—its members are alumnæ of Barnard.

My second point is that there are many college interests to which the Associate Alumnæ of Barnard College should devote its energy. Not only have we the intimate problems with Barnard undergraduates, faculty and trustees, but we should appreciate our relationship to other college groups. We should take up work and keep our alumnæ informed of the work with the International Federation of University women, Association of Collegiate Alumnae, Association of Alumnae Secretaries, and similar organizations. At present I venture to say that few Barnard women know very much about these organizations of which Barnard College alumnae are a part. We should publish a quarterly instead of an annual or semi-annual bulletin through which we could keep our alumnae better acquainted with Barnard and the college world.

In closing I wish to add that I believe it broader for Barnard women to take up non-Barnard activities through other organizations than the Associate Alumnae. We should join with women from other colleges and with non-collegiate women, and often with men, when we work for non-Barnard programs. We should be narrow if we claimed all Barnard women should work only together. Let Barnard women join other groups and let their influence for the good be felt in every community! Let Barnard women unite in the A. A. of B. C. for the interests of Barnard!

Sincerely yours,

EDITH MULHALL ACHILLES.

NOTICE OF TEAS

The alumnae are cordially and earnestly invited to the college teas held every Wednesday afternoon from four to six in the College Parlor, Students Hall.

THE ALUMNAE OFFICE

The alumnae office, Room 105. Students Hall is now open from nine to five on week days, until one on Saturdays and until 10 P.M. on Tuesday evenings. The telephone number is Morningside 1400, exchange 417 and the executive secretary, Anna Reiley '05, is always glad to have the alumnae call on the telephone or drop in to discuss the many aspects of the work of the association.

CLASSES ARE ASKED TO SUGGEST NAMES TO NOMINATING COMMITTEE

The Nominating Committee has felt for some time the need of closer cooperation between the class organizations and the Associate Alumnae. In order to further this cooperation a letter has been written to each class secretary asking that the Executive Committee of the class send suggestions to the nominating committee for nominations for the next Board of Directors. The names suggested by the different classes will be filed and considered not only for nominations for the Board of Directors, but for the different vacancies to be filled in the committees next year.

Furthermore the committee hopes that the independent nominations, so successfully employed last spring, will be continued this year. By means of this practice the association can have the benefit of a larger number of nominees than can be named by the nominating committee which is limited, by the By-Laws to twenty-five.

ADALINE C. WHELOCK, Chairman.

CONCERNING MME. CURIE

An appeal has been made to the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College for the fund of $100,000 that is being raised by the women of America to present to Mme. Curie a gram of radium for experimental purposes. As the great achievements of Mme. Curie are well-known it seems unnecessary to add anything to the appeal. Those interested may send their contributions to the Mme. Curie Radium Fund, 106 East 52nd Street, New York City.

Alumnae desiring a ticket for the meeting at Carnegie Hall on May 18 at four o'clock to welcome Mme. Curie should apply in person to the Executive Secretary, Students Hall, or send her a stamped addressed envelope. The supply is limited.

SWIMMING CLASS FOR CHILDREN OF ALUMNAE

The Administration is considering the possibility of having a swimming class for the children of alumnae on Saturday mornings during the winter of 1921-1922. If any of the alumnae would be interested, will they please communicate with the Dean's office, giving the ages and sex of the children who would like to participate in the class?

THE ALUMNAE LUNCHEON, JANUARY 29

One hundred and sixty alumnae and guests enjoyed the annual Alumnae Luncheon in the gymnasium of Students Hall on Saturday, January 29. Holding it in the gymnasium was an innovation, and from the comments heard a generally pleasant one. There was indeed the greater informality the committee hoped for, and but for the presence of fur coats one might have fancied one self at the Trustees' Luncheon in June. There were the same circles and semi-circles of chairs socially grouping together two or three classes of "age-equals", and affording more of an opportunity to visit around with one's friends than the set tables of the lunchroom; there was the same group of faithfully attending Trustees and the Dean and Prof. and Mrs. Brewster and faculty faithfuls, ensconced in the centre of things in chairs somewhat more pretentious than those of the rest of us. Toward the end all pulled their chairs up toward the platform to be within hearing of the speakers.

Ruth Guernsey, '14, Alumnae President, welcomed the alumnae to their most intimate and personal event of the year, and acquainted the alumnae with alumnae doings. She then introduced Virginia Gildersleeve, '99, otherwise known as the Dean. Miss Gildersleeve described this college year as "strenuous but amiable". Last year Barnard and other colleges, like the rest of the world, felt inclined to be rather cross. The idea current in some circles that Barnard is more radical and bolshevist than other colleges was abundantly disproved when the undergraduate president, returning from the Student Government Conference, reported that all the delegates came with similar feelings about their own colleges and particularly about their sophomores! Miss Gildersleeve told of the housing difficulties at Barnard this fall which are described at greater length in the report of the Alumnae Trustee. When building conditions become "more stable and less scandalous", it is hoped a benefactor will arise who will build first the Claremont and then the Broadway wing to Brooks Hall.

Miss Gildersleeve said that though we might each miss some favorite member of the faculty of our own day, perhaps, she felt that Barnard to-day continues to offer the finest faculty of any of the women's colleges, and urged the alumnae to direct toward Barnard any students of superior merit who might come to their notice. In closing the Dean mentioned that her tenth year of service was drawing to a close, and that she expected to take part of a sabbatical year for the first time, sailing for Europe in March.

The Dean then introduced Dr. Caroline Spurgeon, Professor of English Literature in the University of London, President of the British Federation of University Women, and of the International Federation of University Women. Professor Spurgeon is the first woman exchange professor in the United States. She has been giving a graduate course at Columbia and some undergraduate courses at Barnard. Professor Spurgeon gave a most interesting and illuminating analysis of the difference between the American and the English college girl.

The reunion committee headed by Hilda Newborg Strauss was in charge of the luncheon.

DINNER AT THE HOTEL GOTHAM

Barnard Women who attended the dinner at the Hotel Gotham on January 28 under the auspices of the International Federation of University Women looked upon a "galaxy of college presidents", heard some good speeches, caught a glimpse of peace and a new world through the sympathy of college women all over the world and, incidentally, were very proud of the Dean who presided. Miss Gildersleeve introduced Mrs. Catt who was followed by Miss Spurgeon. This British woman presented a picture of the results of a sympathetic attitude among the nations and the alternative of war which left a silence when she sat down. Then came the presidents:—McCracken of Vassar, Pendleton of Wellesley, Thomas of Bryn Mawr, Wooley of Mt. Holyoke, Neilson of Smith. Each debated the value of exchanging undergraduate students and told what his or her institution was doing along this field.

Between these talks, informal remarks were made from the floor by an English girl now at Radcliffe, by a Philippino woman, graduate of the ancient university at Manila, by a Y. W. C. A. secretary attached to the University of Chile and by others.

ALUMNÆ DAY

Alumnæ Day is first of all an occasion for the alumnæ to renew their contacts and associations with College, to come back to Barnard, meet the undergraduates, refresh their memories with what is permanent in college life and learn of the student interests and activities that are new. It is a day when college life is going on as usual and the alumnæ are invited to share it. Barnard adopted Columbia's custom last year of having Alumnæ Day on February 12, which is a holiday for most people but a business-as-usual day for the University. We hope that this day will become the established one for Barnard too, but this year the committee thought it best not to choose it because it fell on a Saturday, just two weeks after the alumnæ luncheon, and also on a day when there would be few, if any, undergraduates at college. For this particular year, therefore, it was decided to celebrate Alumnæ Day on a Wednesday, that being the day that the undergraduates and alumnæ have tea together every week, and March 2 was chosen.

Having always in mind our aim to keep associations alive and green between the alumnæ and Barnard, the committee was unusually fortunate in being able to lure back Professor Robinson to talk in the theater to a group of alumnæ, who probably all had, some time or other in the last twenty years, taken "four points" of Robinson", and were eager to come back and have their brain cells stirred up again in the old way. Some time or other too, in the college days of most alumnæ, had been Dr. Crampton's course in zoology, the cause of so many hours of hot discussion in the class studies, after a particularly logical and peace of mind destroying lecture on Evolution with a capital E. Dr. Crampton had been back again for only a few days after a nine months trip in the remote regions of Guam and Yap, luckily in time to come to the theater too, and talk delightfully to his old students and friends.

It was a family party throughout. After the addresses in the theater the alumnæ and undergraduates went over to Students Hall for tea.

CLASS PRESIDENTS AND SECRETARIES MEET

A conference of class presidents and secretaries of the classes after 1900 was held on April 5 under the auspices of the Membership Committee.

The meeting was called for the purpose of considering methods of increasing the membership of these classes in the association and in the course of the discussion many interesting questions of association policies were discussed such as:

The scope of the work of the association.

Size of the reinstatement fee for members who have been dropped.

Holding the alumnae luncheon one year at a hotel and one year at College.

Having class dues include association dues.

Supplying to class presidents information of what the association is doing.

Sending out printed statements of the program of work of the association.

The meeting was very interesting and the vote that was taken on several of the questions was forwarded to the Board of Directors for their consideration.

THE ASSOCIATION OF COLLEGIATE ALUMNAE CONVENTION

The Association of Collegiate Alumnae held its biennial convention in Washington, D. C., March 29 to April 1. Membership in this society is open to all graduates of recognized women's colleges. The national dues are two dollars a year; one may affiliate with a local branch if one wishes or one may be a "general" member participating only in the national activities. To the convention each Branch may send delegates according to the number of members it has; there are also delegates-at-large to represent the general members; each college may send one representative, and each alumnae association may send delegates. Each alumnae association is allowed one delegate for each 100 paid up members it has, a councillor for the first 500 members and another councillor for 1000 additional members. The councillor acts as chairman of the delegation and is a member of the Council. At this convention Barnard College was represented by Professor Margaret Maltby. The Councillor for the Associate Alumnae, Eleanor Osborne, was ill and Mrs. Paul Strong Achilles (Edith Mulhall '14) attended the convention as acting councillor.

The association elected to membership the Southern Association of College Women and changed its name. The organization will hereafter be known as the American Association of University Women. This is the American organization of college women which is federated with similar organizations in other countries to form the International Federation of University Women.

The A. A. of U. W. will meet annually hereafter. The newly elected President is Miss Ada Comstock, Dean of Smith College.

CONFERENCE OF AFFILIATED ALUMNAE ASSOCIATIONS

During the convention of the A. C. A. one day is set aside for conferences of different groups—Women Trustees, Deans and Professors, Secondary School Principals, and Affiliated Alumnae Associations.

The conference on affiliated alumnae associations was both interesting and helpful. The question whether the alumnae associations should undertake other than college interests was discussed fully and the vote taken showed the consensus of opinion was against the associations entering non-collegiate fields. It appeared evident that alumnae associations need all their time and energy to strengthen their college.

Suggestions for financing alumnae associations were given by Smith, Vassar, Mt. Holyoke and Bryn Mawr. None of these associations is financed by dues alone but by extra contributions from their alumnae. Ninety-one per cent. of the alumnae of Bryn Mawr belong to their alumnae association.

Smith, Vassar, Mt. Holyoke and Bryn Mawr have alumnae publications—some quarterlies, some monthlies. Such publications keep the alumnae informed of college activities and interested in alumnae work.

The next conference will be held at the A. A. of U. W. Convention next year. The Barnard representative will act as chairman.

BARNARD ALUMNAE LUNCH IN WASHINGTON

On Thursday, March 31, Barnard women in Washington held an alumnae luncheon in the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

BARNARD OVERSEAS WORK CONTINUES

The fund given by the Barnard alumnae for Red Cross work has been turned over for use in the devastated area of France under the auspices of the French government. This work is being supervised by Mrs. Van Allen Shields, (Rose Lathrop, '98) and is being carried on in Marcoing and neighboring villages.

Several alumnae are still abroad doing welfare work:

Marie Louise Fontaine, '06, who has just completed her work with the Rockefeller Foundation in the anti-tuberculosis campaign, is now tutoring the children of American Army officers in the Coblenz district.

Muriel Valentine, '07, is working in the center at Anizy-le-Chateau under the American Committee for Devastated France. On February 25 a benefit bridge was given at the Hotel Plaza to raise funds for her work. At this bridge a "Barnard room" was set aside and the tables in this room were taken by Muriel Valentine's college friends.

STUDENTS HALL FROM THE GARDEN
BUILT BY MR. SCHIFF ON THE LAND GIVEN BY MRS. ANDERSON

Dr. Ruth Guy, '12, is doing research work in Glasgow, Scotland.

Jessie Nottingham, '10, had to give up her work in Poland last August when the American Red Cross retired before the advance of the Bolshevik army. After working at headquarters in Paris she has returned to Warsaw and is again engaged in the field work of the Red Cross.

Since the last Alumnæ Bulletin was published Barnard has lost four of her most valued friends. We announce with deep regret the death of Mr. Frederic B. Jennings, clerk of the Board of Trustees and a founder of the college, Dr. L. Herbert Alexander, instructor in Romance Languages, Mr. Jacob H. Schiff and Mrs. A. A. Anderson.

Mr. Schiff will be remembered with gratitude not only as the first treasurer of Barnard College and the generous donor of Students Hall, but also as one who saw clearly the ideal of Barnard as the college representing most accurately the different types of citizens which make up the Republic of the United States.

Mrs. Anderson became trustee of the college in 1894 and since then has been its devoted friend and greatest benefactor. In 1897 Mrs. Anderson gave the college Milbank Hall and six years later purchased the land south of Milbank to 116th Street. The gift of this land on which Students and Brooks Halls stand made possible the growth of Barnard and its giver will be held in grateful memory by the alumnæ.

REPORT OF THE PRESIDENT OF THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNAE OF BARNARD COLLEGE 1919-1920

Your president has presided over one special meeting of the Associate Alumnæ, the annual luncheon, and all meetings of the Board of Directors since her election to office in November 1919. She has also attended some of the meetings held by various committees.

Your president was present at the luncheon given to welcome Miss Spurgeon and Mrs. McLean of England when they visited America during the winter of 1919-20. She had the honor to represent the Barnard alumnæ at the opening meeting of the Mt. Holyoke Endowment Fund Campaign and at a luncheon given by the Smith College Endowment Fund campaign. She also presented the prize given each year by the Barnard Alumnæ Club of Mt. Vernon to the student of the Mt. Vernon High School making the best extemporaneous speech.

Endowment Fund work absorbed much time throughout the year. An intercollegiate committee of which Miss Gildersleeve was chairman was formed with representatives from Smith, Mt. Holyoke, Bryn Mawr and your president representing Barnard. This committee met at various times to discuss endowment fund campaigns. Your president visited the national endowment fund headquarters of Smith, and Bryn Mawr and the New York City headquarters of Mt. Holyoke.

The reports of the various committees of the alumnæ will tell of their work in detail. Your president desires to thank officers, directors and committee members for their help and cooperation; in particular she wishes to express her gratitude to the Clerk and the Executive Secretary who never failed in any emergency to serve Barnard alumnæ in the best way possible.

Your president after a year in office begs to make the following suggestions:

1. That By-Law No. XI, Sect. 1, be amended so that there shall be five regular meetings of the Board of Directors. The meeting in April at a time when activities are at their height is too overcrowded to permit all reports to be read and discussed. Two regular meetings should be planned during March and April so that reports crowded out of the first meeting because of lack of time will be considered at the second. Special meetings are not satisfactory as they are not well attended and it is not fair for some committee reports to be read at a special meeting instead of at the regular meeting of the Board.

2. That the alumnæ appoint a "House Committee" or a committee with some other name whose function will be the care and planning of the furniture in the Alumnæ Room. It is suggested that this committee consists of the executive secretary and four other members each appointed for four years—but that the first appointment be for 1, 2, 3, 4, years respectively, so that one new member is appointed each year. The function of this committee should be to plan for the buying of new furniture and equipment for the alumnæ office and to plan for the renovating and renewing of the furniture now in our possession. This committee should make recommendations to the Finance Committee in regard to money needed for renewing and replacing the contents of the Alumnæ Room. At present the officers of the association are elected for one year only and so can not make plans for future recovering and caring for the furniture.

3. That the Association raise funds to warrant engaging an executive secretary full time for at least nine months of the year. The work which should be done in order for the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College to fulfill its function requires the entire time of an executive secretary. Although in theory the position is now a paid one in practice it is mostly a volunteer one as the meager salary is sufficient for only a small part of the time and thought the executive secretary gives. It will soon be impossible to engage anyone for one-quarter time when it is known that the work to be done requires full time. A thorough examination of the financial situations among other alumnae associations reveals the fact that none is supported by dues alone, but that alumnae financially able contribute to the support of the alumnae associations. It is earnestly recommended that $1000 be raised at once to supplement the appropriation of the Associate Alumnae for an executive secretary.

4. That the Associate Alumnae of Barnard College make a request to the Board of Trustees of the college for a second alumnae trustee. It is suggested that the second trustee be elected every four years, two years after the present trustee. Thus a new alumnae trustee would be elected every two years for a period of four years. When the first alumnae trustee was appointed the graduates of the college numbered about 200, there are now over 2000 living Barnard graduates.

EDITH MULHALL-ACHILLES,

President.

REPORT OF ALUMNAE TRUSTEE

Many interesting problems have presented themselves to the Trustees during the past year. Foremost among the questions of especial interest to us as alumnae are the creation of a second Alumnae Trustee, voted at the December meeting and since made possible by a change in the charter, and the very serious problem of the lack of proper housing facilities for out-of-town students. This latter question has been complicated by the emergency laws enforced during the past year which prevent landlords from forcing out tenants at the expiration of their leases. As a result of this situation, although Columbia University rented to Barnard College for dormitory purposes one of their newly acquired apartment houses at 39 Claremont Avenue, known as John Jay Hall, we have obtained possession of only five of the twenty-four apartments, whereas thirteen leases expired last autumn and the rest should terminate this year. As chairman of the Committee on Buildings and Grounds, your Alumnae Trustee has been asked to handle this problem so that the students may be more comfortably housed next year and every effort will be made to secure adequate accommodations. When the students arrived for the opening of the college term last fall, instead of the pleasant rooms which they had expected to find awaiting them, they were ushered into a regular army barrack hurriedly equipped in the gymnasium. Let it be said to the credit of every one concerned, that no one complained except a very few faint hearted, weak sisters, who returned to their homes and who have probably not been missed—every one among the students and the administrative staff cheerfully helped to make the best of a disagreeable situation. The old cooperative apartments on 116th Street were retained and filled to capacity, Brooks Hall found it possible to crowd in about nine more girls, the two rest rooms in Students Hall were made into dormitories for four girls each, so that we have managed to live through a happy and successful winter in spite of our difficulties, and sociability flourished as never before, thanks to the splendid cooperation of undergraduates, alumnae and administrative staff. We wish to assure them all of our hearty appreciation and thanks and to tell them that every possible effort will be made to make dormitory life pleasanter next year.

SARA STRAUS HESS, Alumnae Trustee.

REPORT OF THE EXECUTIVE SECRETARY

After a year's work in the office of the Associate Alumnae the executive secretary recommends that the work of the association be enlarged along three different fields.

1. Closer association with the undergraduates.
2. A more frequent alumnae publication.
3. Organization of the alumnae in the suburban towns.

The need of a closer contact with the student body was seen by the Drive Committee during the winter of 1919-1920 and a great deal was done to bring about a closer association between the undergraduates and the alumnae. This work has been carried on by the John Jay and Brooks Hall Committees, the Off Campus Committee, the Membership Committee and the Employment Committee. The report of the work of these committees appears elsewhere in this publication. The executive secretary also urges that more of the alumnae subscribe to and read the undergraduate Bulletin and that they patronize with greater generosity undergraduate activities.

A more frequent alumnae publication is needed not only to give better news of the Barnard graduates, but also to place the policies and program of the association more constantly before its members. No very animated discussion can be carried on through the columns of a publication that comes out but once or twice a year. The chief interest that the average alumna has in the association is her desire to support a definite program of constructive work which it has endorsed. It is therefore advisable that this program be discussed through the columns of the alumnæ publication as thoroughly as possible.

The executive secretary is very anxious to have Barnard clubs formed by the alumnæ living outside of New York City. There is no stronger basis for an alumnæ club than the geographical unit. Thanks to the efforts of Anna E. H. Meyer, '98, a geographical file of the alumnæ has been made. This file shows the increasing number of Barnard graduates who are living in cities other than New York. Letters are being written to different alumnæ living out of town who might be interested in forming a Barnard Club in the center in which they live and any suggestions from the alumnæ as to forming these clubs will be most welcome.

Do not go off on any trip until you have come up to the office and looked over the geographical file. Your route may take you past the home of an old friend of undergraduate days who would welcome some news of the college.

ANNA C. REILEY, Executive Secretary.

REPORT OF THE JOHN JAY AND BROOKS HALL COMMITTEE ON SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The John Jay Committee on Social Activities was formed last April, when the Dean and Board of Trustees entrusted the social life of the new John Jay building to an alumnæ committee with the idea that the continued cooperation between alumnæ and undergraduates would be of great value. Owing to the enforced delay of the college in moving into the John Jay building, the social committee did not function until November. The committee then attended the opening of the building and began regular meetings with Miss Abbott, the director of this building, discussing social plans with her and through her cooperating with the student head of the house in whatever way seemed best.

In December Miss Weeks, becoming impressed with the value of alumnæ and student cooperation, asked the John Jay committee to extend their field of activities to Brooks Hall. So the John Jay committee of five members added two new alumnæ members, who had previously held executive positions at Brooks Hall, and became the John Jay and Brooks Hall Committee on Social Activities.

John Jay and Brooks Hall have both entertained the alumnæ committee at tea, and the following alumnæ have generously opened their homes to John Jay and Brooks Hall girls—Mrs. Alfred Hess, '00, on Thanksgiving Day, Miss Edith Morgan, '17, on Christmas Day, and on February 17 Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, '02, invited a group of John Jay and Brooks Hall girls to meet a large number of artistic, literary and professional guests, such as Miss Zona Gale, Mr. Edwin Markham, Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman, Miss Dorothy Gish and Mr. Seton-Thompson. Late in March Mrs. George McAneny, '99, is inviting another group of dormitory girls to her home. On the Sunday night before Christmas, the John Jay girls, in collaboration with the alumnæ committee, invited the Brooks Hall girls to an evening Christmas party at college, which proved to be a charming and unique entertainment. Early in May the alumnæ committee are planning a large evening party at college to be given for all the John Jay and Brooks Hall girls.

The plan of the committee is to develop as much as possible intercourse between alumnæ and students and also to bring some of the life of our great city to the students. Our alumnæ have a unique opportunity for service to their college, as their college is at their hand, and they alone, knowing the needs of the college, can accomplish the most for it and the community.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON SOCIAL ACTIVITIES OF STUDENTS LIVING OFF THE CAMPUS

The success of the John Jay-Brooks Hall Committee led to the feeling that similar work might well be organized for the students from out of town not living on the campus. Consequently, the Alumnæ Committee on Social Activities for the Off-Campus Students, consisting of eight members, was appointed late in December.

The work of the committee began during the holidays. For those girls whose homes were too far away to be reached, teas were given at the homes of Miss Estelle O'Brien, '16, Miss Amy Jennings, '20, and Mrs. Dudley Miles, '10. The alumnæ found it a great pleasure to meet the undergraduates in their homes in a less formal way than is usual.

On February fourteenth all of the off-campus girls were invited to meet the committee in the College Parlor. The members of the John Jay committee were also present and ten of the John Jay students assisted as hostesses. The alumnæ have shown a great interest in the activities of the committee.

One very delightful tea has been given by Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, and on March 21 Mrs. George McAneny is entertaining about fifty of the undergraduates and a number of professional alumnae at her home. Each time different groups from the dormitories and from the off-campus students are asked so that all those who wish to know the alumnae may do so. In May our final social event will take the form of a general party arranged by the students under the guidance of Mrs. Lowther and members from both of the alumnae social committees for undergraduates. This will probably be home talent and good fun.

This committee does not expect to confine itself to social activities. It hopes to secure a room in Students Hall to be used as an entertainment room by the off-campus girls. If the girls are interested, the committee will be very glad to see them form into a group similar to the dormitory groups. The closer those students are to the college, the more they will get from and give to the college. The alumnae hope to become better acquainted with the girls from out of town for these students have so much to bring to us from other parts of our own and other countries.

There is also the feeling that Barnard has a rare opportunity through its location and some of those most interested are anxious to bring glimpses of the distinctive features of New York to Barnard.

The committee feels that its work is just starting, and that its report must, therefore, consist of hopes and suggestions.

FLORENCE READ MILES, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON MEMBERSHIP AND STATISTICS

Since the opening of the current fiscal year the Membership Committee has devoted itself chiefly to building up the membership of the Associate Alumnae and stimulating interest in it. In this work it has been supported by several of the class organizations and has received great assistance from the untiring efforts of the Executive Secretary.

Campaigns undertaken by 1905, 1909 and 1910 have led to a considerable number of reinstatements from those classes, and have made themselves felt in others as well. 1920 has already furnished a much larger proportion of numbers than is usual with the younger classes. There have also been four new associate members, 12 new life members, and 32 who have begun life memberships on the installment plan. All these movements are, of course, continuing, with fresh results from week to week.

On March 7 the membership committee entertained the senior class at a tea in the Conference Room. In spite of the many rival demands upon their energies a large number of seniors attended and listened to a brief address by Miss Guernsey, setting forth the purpose of the Associate Alumnæ and its claims to the support of every loyal alumna.

On the evening of April 5 there will be a meeting of officers of the classes from 1901 through 1920 to discuss further plans for increasing the membership of the association. The committee will welcome any suggestions from alumnæ that will tend to assist its efforts to increase its usefulness.

THEODORA BALDWIN, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON EMPLOYMENT

Oct. 16, 1919—Oct. 15, 1920.

On February 20 a vocational conference was held in the College Parlor, at which Barnard graduates told of the work they were doing, and gave the undergraduates detailed information as to the best way to fit themselves for similar lines of work. The speakers included a gymnasium director of the Harlem Y.W.C.A., an employment manager in a silk mill, a commercial mathematician, a bacteriologist, a newspaper worker, a social research worker, a teacher and an exponent of scientific management as a business.

Further vocational information was given to the undergraduates when Miss Emma Hirth, director of the Bureau of Vocational Information spoke in college assembly to the juniors and seniors on March 16 and to the freshmen and sophomores on March 23. It was felt that most of the undergraduates could be reached in this way. Miss Hirth said that the greatest need for college women at the present time is in the professions of teaching, medicine and nursing. One of the most pertinent remarks was that the most important element for success in any line is to have a long plan and not to consider work as a depot on the road to matrimony, but to consider yourself as a worker for the future.

[This year the vocational conference was held April 4. The following alumnæ spoke: Helen Bradbeer, Elsa Becker, '14; Babette Deutsch, '17; Mary Barber, '18; Margery Eggleston, '10; Svea Nelson, '15. Vera Klopman, Alice Judson, '19; Helen Hicks, '20.—ED.]

Estimate of Earnings Represented....	$132,018	$101,844
--------------------------------------	-----------	-----------

The year as a whole showed an increase of 10% in the calls from employers and of 5% in the appointments, but in both cases this increase represents mainly temporary and part-time positions. During the last few months on the other hand, and especially this Fall, there has been a slackening in the demand for workers. This is especially marked in the better-paid openings; we have on our lists at present more candidates for "really interesting" executive positions than we have been able to place, and even in regard to the less important stenographer-secretarial calls there has been a considerable change since August. Then we had a quantity of demands from employers that we could not fill, because none of our candidates wanted to work in the summer. In September, when the applicants returned to town, the demand suddenly vanished.

Salaries have, of course, increased. Among the members of the class of 1920 placed by this office the lowest salary for full time work is $1000 and the highest, earned by an experienced candidate, $1700.

In view of the recent discussion of the teaching situation, the plans of the class of 1920 may be of interest. Out of the 80% of the class whose plans we know, 30% are teaching or preparing to teach, 50% are or will be in other occupations.

We regret to report that we still find ourselves less successful in fitting the older alumnae into responsible positions than we are in making the first contracts for the seniors.

Respectfully submitted,

AGNES L. DICKSON, Chairman.

[The college secretary, Katharine S. Doty, '04, is in charge of the actual placement work. Ed.]

ANNUAL REPORT OF THE FINANCE COMMITTEE OF THE ASSOCIATE ALUMNAE, OCTOBER 30, 1920

The Finance Committee is pleased to report a great improvement in the resources of the General Fund. We have now a balance of over $500.00 as against about $85.00 last year. This is due to rigid pruning of budgets, and the care exercised by officers and committees in administering their funds.

Last fall in computing the assets of the General Fund, it became at once obvious that dues of $1.00 from about 750 members, plus about $200.00 from interest of the Life Membership and the Dormitory Surplus funds would never cover a budget of well over $1,000.00.

To prevent a recurrence of this difficulty a special meeting of the Associate Alumnæ was called in December and the dues increased to $2.00 a year. With a normal interest and increase in membership the association should have an adequate income for the ensuing year. The income will not however be doubled, because the amounts realized from the partial payment life membership plan are transferred to capital account.

Last autumn the surplus in the hands of the War Service Committee was at their recommendation turned over to the Barnard Drive Committee. After this was exhausted the college assumed the expenses of this committee.

Owing to extra expenses and rather small revenue from dues during the war the association found itself without funds to publish the usual five yearly statistical directory of alumnæ. The general changes due to the war made it particularly necessary that at least a directory of addresses should be printed, and the college very generously assumed this burden for us. This report you have doubtless all received. This is however purely an Associate Alumnæ function, and our part should be definitely provided for.

For details of moneys in special funds, budgets and expenditures you are referred to the Treasurer's report.

ALTE STILWELL KERVAN, Chairman.

REPORT OF THE DRIVE COMMITTEE

The Drive Committee beg to report that the amount of money which they have raised for the college is as follows:

General Endowment .....	$108,697.00
Undergraduates .....	7,074.00
1918 .....	1,545.00
1915 .....	2,985.00
Good Government Chair.....	10,877.00
	$131,178.00

The undergraduates from 1920-23 will go down as Founders and the classes of 1900, 1918, and 1897 all gave as classes. The class of 1915 is raising a Helen Hartley Jenkins Fund.

This sum has enabled the college to pay off its debts and thereby secure the amounts of $200,000 and $100,000 promised by the Rockefeller and Carnegie Foundations respectively, which completed the long-sought-after $1,000,000 fund.

The committee found themselves hampered by certain prevailing conditions at college which caused apathy among alumnæ and outsiders. These conditions have been reported at length to the Board of Directors, who in turn have reported them to the Dean. The committee hope that they have accomplished much for the college in arousing the interest of alumnæ and undergraduates and also that they have succeeded in bringing the college somewhat before the public.

The committee have not yet met this fall and are therefore unable to report any plans for the future.

Respectfully submitted,

HILDA N. STRAUSS,
Executive Secretary, Drive Committee.

REPORT OF THE ALUMNAE COOPERATIVE DORMITORY COMMITTEE

October 23, 1920

The Alumnae Cooperative Dormitory Committee are pleased to report that during the past year, October 1, 1919—October 1, 1920, the dormitory has covered all expenses, including the salary of a director for which the Trustees made themselves responsible. The detailed treasurer's account is attached to this report. During the three summer months the apartments were placed under the direction of a Mrs. Collins, who paid a regular sum monthly for the cost of the apartments and furniture and rented the rooms to summer school students and transients under the name of the Alumnae Cooperative Dormitory.

During the past year there have been 44 girls in the Dormitory. Miss Helen Abbott has been the very successful director of the dormitory and the committee are much pleased that she has been secured by the college for the head of the new John Jay building.

On October 1 the leases for the cooperative dormitory expired and the apartments are now held by the college in the present housing emergency. As the committee looks back over the four years of the cooperative scheme, they feel that the plan has worked most successfully in giving the students a greater social responsibility as well as financial aid. The life of the student has been a happy life in a homelike atmosphere. It is seen by the treasurer's report that the dormitory has paid all running expenses and the committee is dissolving itself with a small balance. The committee is much pleased that the cooperative scheme is being carried on in John Jay Hall with its larger field of activity and hopes that it will be a permanent feature of Barnard dormitory life and will prove the same benefit to the students, the college, and the community.

The alumnae are to have a connection with the new John Jay building, which is to be partly cooperative and partly non-cooperative, as the social life of the building has been placed by the Dean and Trustees in the charge of an alumnae committee. This committee, as appointed by the Board of Directors last spring, is composed of three of the present Cooperative Dormitory Committee and two of the Class of 1920 who lived at the Cooperative Dormitory in their senior year. It is confidently believed that this continued cooperation between alumnae and undergraduates will be of great value.

The committee are recommending to the Board of Directors that the sum in the treasury be spent as follows: $100.00 on a Victrola for the John Jay building and the remainder on the salary of a full time alumnae executive secretary.

MABEL PARSONS, Chairman.

ALUMNAE RAISE $1500 FOR EUROPEAN WORK

The Barnard Hoover Relief Committee, as part of the Women's European Relief Council collected $1500 in answer to a single post card appeal without any follow up. This appeal went to Barnard graduates in New York City and vicinity only. As a great many alumnae have given to this fund through their school, church or club organization, this sum does not represent the total amount given by Barnard women.

The members of the committee wish to thank the alumnae for the support given them in this work.

COMMITTEE:

ALUMNAE RAISE OVER $400 FOR COLLEGE SETTLEMENT

It will be a source of the greatest satisfaction to the alumnae, as it has been to their representative on the College Women's Auxiliary of the College Settlement, to know of their generous response to the recent appeal for the settlement. For the second time Barnard holds the first or second place for the amount subscribed among the fourteen college organizations represented on the Auxiliary.

Ninety-four Barnard alumnae responded to the appeal with subscriptions from one to twenty-five dollars, making a total of $415—exclusive of the $10 voted last fall toward the expenses of the Auxiliary. It may be of interest to note that subscriptions came from eight different states, as far west as Washington and as far south as North Carolina—and from the following classes:

Class	No. of subscribers	Class	No. of subscribers
'93	0	'08	3
'94 *'95	2 *3	'09	3
'96	6	'10	2
'97	4	'11	4
'98	2	'12	3
'99	9	'13	2
'00	8	'14	5
'01	6	'15	3

'03	2	'17	3
'04	4	'18	1
'05	3	'19	4
'06	0	'20	2

Although a date for responses was set on the appeal, it is gratifying that subscriptions are still coming in. If any alumnae are seized with an irresistible desire to send new or belated contributions, they will be most gratefully received. The settlement still, as ever, is sadly in need of funds.

ADALINE C. WHELOCK, Barnard Representative.

HELEN HARTLEY GEER MEMORIAL FUND

The classmates and other friends of Helen Hartley Jenkins Geer, '15, have completed the $5,000 Memorial Fund to establish a Foundership in her name. The income of this fund is to be used for the general expenses of the college.

Helen Hartley Geer, "Bab", as she is affectionately remembered by all her friends was so loyal and enthusiastic an undergraduate and alumna of Barnard, that it is an appropriate tribute to enroll her name among the Founders.

The gateway to Students Hall given by Mrs. Helen Hartley Jenkins and Miss Grace Hartley Jenkins in memory of Helen Hartley Jenkins Geer is now being built. It will be a beautiful addition to the campus.

Starting the Day Right

The first thing one wants in the morning is the newspaper.

Take THE TRIBUNE, for instance :

To read the first pages is to know what the world and his wife are doing.

Then a few minutes spent on the editorial page to see what the reactions are to events of the day. And while you are on this page don't forget to look at Ding's cartoon—it would take pages to put in writing what Ding gets in any one of his cartoons.

Also on this page, three mornings a week, Heywood Broun writes in his own original way about the latest books. And Broun's dramatic criticisms are as closely followed by the theatrical profession as they are by those of us who want to know about the latest shows.

Opposite the editorial page will be found every morning, a page devoted largely to society and the arts.

Following this page are two pages devoted to sporting news. Briggs with his human interest cartoons and Grantland Rice with his column on sports—largely devoted to golf and kindred sports—are the headliners on these pages. Besides Rice's column you will find full reports of golf tournaments and tennis matches and the other country club sports as well as full account of the other sports.

The Tribune's financial pages will be found of particular interest to the laymen as the financial news is written in an easily understandable manner and the stock and bond tables are the most complete published in any generally circulated newspaper.

After the business and real estate pages there comes the Tribune Shipping and Travel Guide. In this Guide will be found listed practically all the passenger lines operating out of American ports. Supplementing this is full information about the mails, arrival of passenger steamers and other marine news.

The last page of the Tribune will be found of particular interest. It is devoted largely to human interest stories and since, in addition, the Thornton W. Burgess Bedtime Stories appear every morning, the children are always interested in this page.

No modern newspaper is complete without advertising. In 1920 the Tribune carried the second greatest volume of department store advertising on weekdays among all New York morning newspapers.

To have the New York Tribune with your breakfast coffee every morning is to START THE DAY RIGHT.

The most pressing problem of social reconstruction in France to-day is the physical reconstruction of the children. A model open-air school is to be built at Lille.

WE OFFER YOU KNOWLEDGE, NOT HEARSAY

IN buying Floor Coverings, Furniture, and Decorative Fabrics, one should remember that stores operating solely as clearing houses can have but a superficial knowledge of the goods they sell.

Sloane's, on the other hand, are identified with the actual production of a great proportion of their own stocks, and possess that true sense of values which proceeds from first-hand knowledge rather than from second-hand information.

This also enables us, in selecting merchandise from other sources than our own, to pronounce judgment instead of having to solicit it.
